

Cookies Policy

Last updated: February 28, 2023

This Cookies Policy explains how our website uses cookies and similar technologies to provide you with a better user experience, personalize content and ads, and analyze usage of our website.

What are cookies?

Cookies are small text files that are stored on your device when you visit certain websites. They are widely used to make websites work or work more efficiently, as well as to provide information to the owners of the site. Cookies can be "persistent" or "session" cookies. Persistent cookies remain on your device after you have closed your browser, while session cookies are deleted as soon as you close your browser.

What types of cookies do we use?

We use both session and persistent cookies on our website. Our website also uses third-party cookies, which are cookies placed by another website or service. These cookies may be used to provide advertising and to track your behavior across different websites.

How do we use cookies?

We use cookies to:

- Provide a better user experience by remembering your preferences and settings
- Analyze how our website is used to improve our content and services
- Personalize content and advertising to match your interests and preferences
- Provide social media features and to analyze traffic to our site

How to control cookies?

You can control cookies by adjusting your browser settings. Most browsers allow you to refuse cookies or to delete cookies that have already been set. However, if you disable cookies, some features of our website may not work properly.

Changes to our Cookies Policy

We may update this Cookies Policy from time to time. We will notify you of any changes by posting the new policy on this page.
